We the Seniors of '54 proudly dedicate our "Black and Gold" to Miss Annie Graham Caldwell, who gives unselfishly of her time to guide, encourage, and cheer the members of our class and school. Never shall we, as graduates, forget working with her on various outside activities, planning chapel programs, fixing the library for a party, or receiving one of her kind congratulatory notes.

The Student Council, the highest representative body of the student co-operative government, plays a vital part in the promotion and application of our Honor System. The Council strives to maintain a high sense of honesty among the students, and it tries those students who are suspected guilty of an infraction of the Honor Code. The correction of those found guilty of a moral offense, the interpretation and amendment of the constitution, and the promotion of the general welfare of our school fall under the original jurisdiction of the Student Council.

This year our officers were Bob Hankins, president; Allan Gitter, vice-president; Joe Goodman, secretary; and Bill Taylor, treasurer.

A party for the new students and faculty began the activities of the council this year, followed by intensive study before the amendment of the constitution and the revision of the handbook. The Council interpreted the Honor System to the eighth graders, presented devotional chapel programs for the student body, and sent representatives to the North Carolina Student Council Congress.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Bill Bondurant, speaker pro tem; Pat Kelly, secretary; Tip Johnson, speaker; Margaret Goodrich, treasurer

The House of Representatives for 1953-1954 was led by Tip Johnson, speaker; Bill Bondurant, speaker-pro-tem; Pat Kelly, secretary; Margaret Goodrich, treasurer; and was sponsored by Miss Faye Martin, Mrs. Lucinda Moser, and Miss Nancy Vaughn Martin. These officers and one member from each homeroom make up the section of the Student Government which is in charge of keeping the campus and buildings clean and beautiful. By the functioning of the House Court, this organization tries to keep order throughout the school.

The Court, composed of the House officers and one member from each grade, corrects those students who violate the House regulations.

Along with their other duties, the House, with the National Honor Society and Student Council, sponsored a square dance for the new students at Reynolds this year.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Brevard Hoover Chapter of the National Honor Society, organized in Reynolds High School in 1922, initiated many projects and engaged in many activities this year. The Chapter sponsored College Day and Vocational Guidance Week to help students choose their college and vocation. In cooperation with the House and Council they helped give a square dance for new students. The N.H.S. sponsored the first devotional chapel of the year at which Mr. Joyner was the speaker. The Chapter ushered at the first P.T.A. meeting of the year.

Two of the most impressive chapel programs were the fall and spring induction services. At that time Honor Society members were chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

The Chapter held their business meetings each Wednesday morning at eight o'clock. The officers, Bill Spencer, president; Mary Irving Carlyle, vice-president; Mary Lou Darsey, secretary; Lennart Peterson, treasurer; and Carolyn Peters, Devotional Chairman, conducted the meetings under the excellent supervision of their faculty sponsor, Mrs. Marjorie Stephenson. Every member enjoyed the initiation programs and the annual picnic in the spring.

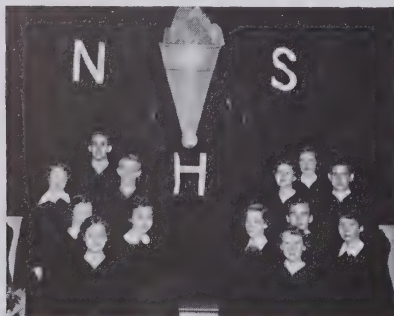

The purpose of the National Honor Society is to promote high character and good scholarship in every student, to develop capable leaders, and to render service to our school.

President Bill Spencer conducts a meeting on Wednesday morning.

Some members are decorating for the fall induction.

The old members pose beneath the torch after the fall induction.

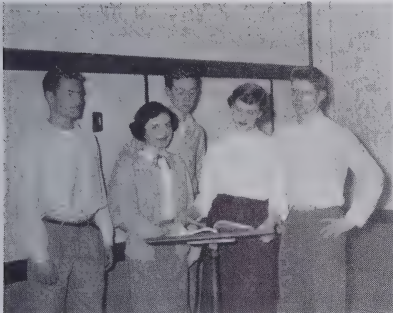

Officers: Lennart Peterson, treasurer; Carolyn Peters, chaplain; Bob Hankins, state president; Mary Lou Darsey, secretary; Bill Spencer, president; and Mary Irving Carlyle, vice-president.

PINE WHISPERS

This busy year of 1953-1954 flew by in such a hurry in room 111. A staff of twenty-seven reporters under the guidance of Gerald Wilson, editor-in-chief, and Mary Irving Carlyle, managing editor, successfully put out twelve issues of Pine Whispers. Mary Jacobs and Joe McKenzie kept up with the athletics of Reynolds on page four.

Will you remember the highlights of this wonderful year—the big Christmas party given for the staff—the annual Southern Interscholastic Press Association Convention—the impressive Quill and Scroll inductions?

Yes, you'll remember all this and more—how could you forget!

BLACK AND GOLD

This year's Black and Gold staff was headed by Mary Lou Darsey and Kay Shepherd, chief editors, who were assisted by the senior editors, Judy McMichael and Betty Lou Hammer; the junior editors, Elizabeth Efird and Ann Griffin; the faculty editors, Patsy Patten and Lou Linton; and write-up editor, Ann Marshall. These people along with other journalism students worked hard with the make-ups, glossies, write-ups; photographers, and editors from Gray and Hanes High Schools to prepare the '53-'54 annual production. Under the leadership of Becky Hinkle and John Schultz the business staff collected advertisements from various businesses for the annual.

PRINT SHOP

Anyone who ever goes near the R. J. R. print shop will know what a tremendous amount of work is done here for our Alma Mater. The print shop working crew consists of boys from the ninth through the twelfth grades.

This year there was a total of 27 boys in September. Among the 27 were nine beginners, 10 second year students, 3 third year, and 5 fourth year students.

Mr. Dale Vaughn is the steering head of the crew, spending all of his time instructing the boys and keeping things running smoothly.

The largest project of the year is producing the finished copies of Black and Gold. The club write-ups and identifications, the Histories, Prophecies, Last Will and Testament and ads all have to be designed and made up. After being assembled into pages, they are corrected, then locked eight pages at a time in the chases and taken to Winston Printing Company, who does the press work. When they have folded and sewed the books, back they go to our print shop where the backs are glued. They are trimmed, gauze is put on the backs and the head bands are put on. Finally, in their new covers, 2500 yearbooks are distributed to the student bodies of the three high schools.

Another equally difficult job is getting out the three schools' papers every 3 weeks. Hanes Hi Rada, Gray Light, and Pine Whispers. Twelve issues have been received this year. Other duties they gladly perform are the printing of the football programs, football and basketball tickets, yellow cards and ribbons inscribed "Beat Hi Point", "Go Black Demons", report cards, attendance blanks, excuse blanks, envelopes, stationery, football and basketball banquet programs, posters, schedule cards, P. T. A. invitations, towel tickets, failure notes, sick excuses, lunch permits, and other material used by both elementary and high schools of Winston-Salem.

In doing this work the boys are training themselves for a certain outside vocation upon their graduation.

THE VARSITY DEBATERS

Simon Sosnik, Hank Elkins, Carolyn Peters, Emerson Wall.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Evelyn Garrison the debating club met and elected officers for the '53-'54 school year. They are Hank Elkins, president; Emerson Wall, vice-president; Simon Sosnik, secretary; and Judy Peterson, secretary. The members of the club participated in the various speech activities in the school over the year. Hank and Emerson entered the World Peace Speech Contest, with Hank emerging as district winner. These two traveled to Raleigh with Simon and Mrs. Garrison to the National Forensic League Student Congress.

In January the varsity debating squad was chosen from a field of ten debaters. Hank and Simon composed the negative; Emerson and Carolyn Peters were on the affirmative.

The debating club promoted interest in speech by hearing various types of public speaking during its Thursday morning meetings. Members who participated in school contests gave reading orations, declamations and debate speeches throughout the year.

The Senior Hi-Y is one of the leading organizations in the development of high school boys. This organization is sponsored by the Y.M.C.A.

The officers of the club this year were as follows: Allan Gitter, president; Joe McKenzie, vice-president; Read Clark, secretary; Bill Baldrige, treasurer; and Tip Johnson, chaplain.

Each member will always remember the fun and fellowship we have known this year and during the three previous years of our existence together. The fun derived from the Hi-Y basketball league and the fellowship which developed in the weekly meetings have done much to keep our bonds of friendship alive.

Our group has had varied activities. We have sponsored devotional chapels, hayrides, dances, and other programs centering our personal character and the welfare of the school.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club, an international organization, is the oldest boys' service club in school that is solely dedicated to the purpose of making Reynolds a better school. The Key Club honors scholarship as well as sports.

A boy who is inducted into the Key Club is a boy who has the reputation of practicing clean living. A member may be asked to join in his sophomore year. This gives the club a new and experienced group of leaders each year. It is the sincere wish of this year's seniors that we have been of service, and we hope that we have chosen boys to follow in true Key Club tradition.

SENIOR SERVICE CLUB

Our first major project was promoting school spirit. Hats off to the guys who braved the cold mornings to hang up the demon and to hand out "Beat Opponent" cards throughout the football season.

Many times doing such things as supplying ink and chalk for the school, selecting each month an outstanding Student and Teacher for recognition, and sponsoring the annual Christmas Tea for the Faculty kept the Club busy and interesting.

Oh, yes, don't forget the parade, the bonfire, and the great dances we had.

Congratulations to Mr. Sifford, our sponsor, who was married in December.

By looking at these shots let us not forget the great times we had in the S.S.C. of '54.

THESPIANS

What a year this has been for our smiling little group of theatrical geniuses.

On January 13 our weeks of rehearsal were brought to a climax when the production of Curse You, Jack Dalton finally became a reality. We sometimes wonder how when we think of rehearsals and the pranks and loud laughter of Bill Darsey and Susan Pardington ringing through the empty auditorium.

Picking a play for Chapel Hill caused a bit of confusion, but we were getting used to that idea. Finally it was decided that the contest production would be "The Flight of the Herons." Joan Honeycutt took the lead, and it goes without saying that April 24 was a big day in her junior year here at R. J. R.

Many of us discovered that life in the theater brings many heartbreaks and lots of work as well as good times. It wasn't unusual to find Miss Catherine MacRae, Miss Ruth Good, David Eddleman, Lee Beibigheiser, Bruce Brooks, and Dick Buell in the auditorium at 5:00 o'clock almost every afternoon.

Will we ever forget Dick's pleading voice, "Patsy (she was directing), I've got to go to work," and Patsy's cheerful reply, "Richard, would you kindly shut up so we can get on with rehearsal." At this point Susy would come out with, "Squelch!", and Darsey would follow with, "Bounce!", and so rehearsals would go!

Thanks to all the Thespians for making this year a successful one!

Officers for the club are Dick Buell, Susan Pardington, Bill Darsey, Patsy Patten, and David Eddleman.

In a rehearsal for Curse You, Jack Dalton the villain is foiled again.

Club Activities

Again this year, a group of 93 senior girls has met every Thursday morning in the library to discuss and learn about many phases of college. The College Club has had a full year, both in respect to its work in the school and in respect to the programs on Thursday mornings.

Rev. Thomas Fraser, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church spoke first to the girls on the subject "Why Go to College". Since W. C. will probably be the final choice of many of the girls, Miss Mary Ann Sifford, of that college was asked to conduct one of the programs. Dr. Dale H. Gramley, president of Salem College was another of the interesting speakers. Miss Weaver, the club's faculty advisor, who was one of its hardest workers, took charge of several meetings, talking to the girls about such things as requirements for entrance to certain colleges, the method of selecting courses, and scholarship opportunities. Miss Weaver has spent many hours with the girls individually, discussing future plans with each.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club combines the activities of the foreign languages class with the activities of a club. The programs are not only entertaining but also educational. Such topics as government, geography, customs, and recreation were discussed by the second year clubs, while in the first year clubs French games were played and a talk about the life in France was given by Joe Walker. Both clubs are sending CARE packages to needy children in France. Bulletin boards on the second floor stair tower and in the classroom, are changed at least once a month by committees of the different clubs.

The officers in the first year club are Nina Walker, president; Joe Goodman, vice-president; Bruce Brooks, Secretary; Simon Sosnik, treasurer. For the second year clubs the officers are Lynne Hamrick, president; Mary Lou Darsey, vice-president; Wesley Keith, secretary; and Bill Bondurant, treasurer. Mrs. Annie Preston Fearrington, our sponsor, has stimulated our interest in all phases of French life and has encouraged highest standards of our work.

Last year, La Societe' Honoraire de Francais, (The French Honor Society) was organized. Its charter members are Barbara Smith, Peggy Adams, Lindsay Marshall, Mary Elizabeth Cummings, and Carolyn Teachey. It is the second society of its kind to be established in North Carolina and the thirty-eighth in the U.S.A. This year many students are aspiring to its membership.

B. Brooks, N. Walker, J. Goodman, S. Sosnik, first year students, cut le Gateau du Roi.

H. Doughton, M. Herring, L. Winecoff work a French crossword puzzle in a club program. They are second year students.

For the second consecutive year the Black Demons of Reynolds High have been a roaring terror in the Western AAA conference. The people of Winston-Salem this season showed their appreciation to Coach John Tandy and his forces by three times nearly buying every seat in Bowman Gray Stadium.

The campaign started off slowly for the Demons. After the 13-12 sneak victory over Gray, Jim Hardie wrote that chances for Reynolds looked sad in view of the fact that every other team in the conference was loaded with material. As the clubs fell one by one, watching the heels of Shore, Frazier, Jordan, and Davis, the "weak Demons" cry soon rose a "mighty Demons" cry. When time came for the High Point game, the troops of admirers from our city followed the team.

Then came the big game with the Durham Bulldogs. Their pregame bark of "remember last year" died as for three quarters the Bulldogs ran around in circles. In the closing seconds Durham managed to tie the score and it ended, 14-14, Co-State Champions of 1953.

MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club chose as its leaders this year: John Schultz, president; Read Clark, vice-president; Joe McKenzie, secretary; and Jim Sell, treasurer.

With these boys at the helm and under the sponsorship and guidance of Coach John Tandy the club successfully engaged in projects aimed at boosting and improving athletics at Reynolds High. A few of the projects undertaken by the club were the selling of ribbons for football and basketball games, presenting a turkey at Thanksgiving to the janitor for the gym, and having many of the trophies in the case at the gym engraved.

The club, with the co-operation of the other clubs, again sponsored the annual Black and Gold projects. This project helped to acquire better Athletic equipment for the school.

HANES PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF '54

Having been abroad for ten years, we decided to return to our home town of Winston-Salem, located in the grand old state of North Carolina, in the good old United States of America.

We had just concluded a successful tour of Paris, France, and Stockholm, Sweden, where we had been billed as "The Dot and Gail Error of Comedies." Our last appearance before returning home was in London, England, where we gave a "Command Performance" for the Queen of England and her subjects. The performance was a tragic success. A few of our former schoolmates appeared on the program with us. Carolyn Culler received a rousing ovation for her rendition of "Soon I'll Become A Rambling Wreck, When I Take Off For Georgia Tech." Charles "Sonny" Jarvis gave forth with an impersonation of James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart. Following in the spotlight was Donnie Swaim and his "gone" Combo, consisting of David "Hot Lips" Cranfill, on the trombone, and Robah "Boogie Beat" Peacock on the piano, playing that crazy number "Run to the Round House, Nellie, He Can't Corner You There."

After the last show, we boarded our ship, the U. S. S. Carolina Cruiser, for our homeward voyage. The chief mate, Larry Voss, took us to the Captain's quarters to meet Captain Bobby Martin, who showed us our route on the latest 1964 map drawn by that famous Cartographer (in plain English...Mapmaker) Marian Ijames. After a wonderful dinner prepared by that world renowned chef, Isaac Jolly, we strolled along the deck when suddenly we heard the sound of splashing water. Hurrying to the rail, we looked down to find a familiar face staring up at us. Is it a fish? Is it a whale? Why, it's Wilson Mayberry, and there's Peggy Ann Henderson following in a row boat with supplies. What's that she's saying? Oh, she said Wilson was racing the boat from London to New York. Well, he always was a good swimmer, but the Atlantic Ocean proved to be a little too much for him. As we strolled farther down on the deck, we saw a ping-pong match being played to determined the world's ping-pong champion. The contestants were La Verne White and Ann Tillotson.

A few hours later we cited the Statue of Liberty and knew that we were coming into New York Harbor. We noticed a change in the statue. Why it isn't the lady with the torch. Look! It's those famous chemists, Paul Robbins and Sherman "Eli" Cri-

ner. Oh, look at them in that striking pose; a chemistry book in their left hand and a Bunsen burner in their right hand. Read the inscription— "The Men Who Revolutionized Science."

We stopped in New York for a few days. While there we visited "Corney" Island, renamed for its new owner, Corinne Calloway. We dined at "Skeet's Hushpuppy Stand" run by Juanita Dillon. After being seated, we were promptly waited on by Pat Coone, who informed us that business was fine.

After finishing lunch, we went back to our hotel room to relax for awhile, and to read a new novel we had just found, written by the world's famous author, Shelby Martin. The name of the book was "Laugh and the World Laughs With You." It had been published by the Mor-Reese Publishing House owned by Peggy Morris and Eleanor Reese.

That night we decided to take in a Broadway show. Hailing a taxi in front of our hotel, we hopped in to find that the driver was Bobby Parrish. Bobby recommended that we attend the performance of that sparkling new play that was sweeping Broadway, so he whizzed us over to Rickman's Theatre owned and operated by that fabulous showman, Tony Rickman. The name of the play was "Flora Faces Life," starring Flora Lee Cline and Ronald Williams; produced by June Bennett and directed by Ramona Aaron and Alice Tyrrell. We were thrilled with their performance. After the show we took the subway back to our hotel to pack our bags in order to catch the 1:30 plane to Winston-Salem, N. C.

We arrived at the airport to discover that the pilot was none other than Jimmy Matthews who, as usual, had been "Flying High." Two days later we got home, after taking the wrong course and landing in Bermuda. While waiting in Bermuda for the plane to refuel, we walked along the beach that night. Carlton Reavis and his troupe of "Daredevils" were to rave that night. Calton's troupe included Thornton Beroth, Donald Foster and Phillip Stanley.

When we landed at Smith Reynolds Airport, we were greeted by the Hanes High School Band, now under the capable direction of Robert "Radar" Sealey, who had taken a great interest in music.

We decided to visit the city to see what changes had taken place since we had been away. Kate Gladstone, who is now president of Salem College, graciously consented to let us ride down in her limosene with her and her chauffeur, Frank Craver. Kate let us out in front of that exclusive interior decorating shoppe, run by Jayne Chambers. We saw Nancy Gilbert coming out of the shoppe, who told us that Jayne had just decorated her living room, and that it looked simply stunning with that new black polka-dot design on brown and purple stripes. We walked down Fifth Street by the Bell Telephone Company, which was now the Nelson and Sowers Telephone Exchange, owned by Shirley Sowers and Jo Ann Nelson. As we were crossing Fourth Street, we spotted Harold Tillotson who was busily directing traffic. Harold, who was then Chief of Police, told us that he was short on help and was having to work a little harder.

Jean Smith, who had just been elected the first woman mayor of our fair city, was standing in front of City Hall passing out cigars and kissing babies as a way of showing her gratitude. As we passed a corner newstand operated by Modean Howard and Susan Petree, we picked up a copy of the Twin City Samuel published by Betty Jean Samuel. We scanned the sports page to find that Carson Altman and Richard Blizard were fighting that night on TV station S. T. A. T. I. C., channel 143.

We decided next to visit our old Alma Mater, Hanes High School. We grabbed a Lewis Safe Bus owned by Wanda Lewis and driven by Blake Anderson. Getting off at the school, we walked through the halls to see some familiar faces; Ruth Wheeling, who was Director of Girls Athletics, told us that their team had just beaten City Beverage 195-1. Up on the third floor we saw in room 304, Ruth Jean Sherron, who was now teaching shorthand, and at that very moment was giving dictation to her students. On the first row we saw Sylvia "Chuckie" Rikard, who after 10 years was still trying to work her way out of Hanes High. Another former student who had come to teach back at Hanes, was Mitzi Martin. She was the head of the D. E. Department.

Since this was vocational guidance week at Hanes, we went in to listen to some of the talks. Glenda Youngkin, who was superintendent of the Nurses at City Hospital, and Sue Tuttle, Superintendent of Nurses at the Baptist Hospital, were telling the girls what a wonderful career nursing is.

That night we took in a big league football game being played at Blum Park. The starting line-up included Gene Hopkins, Bruce Micheal, Richard Whitley, Richard Rogers and Ted Chambers. We noticed three attractive former students Pat Hauser, Shirley Cagle, and Patsy Chilton in front of the grandstand. They were then professional cheerleaders and

HANES HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '54

"Tell us where the good times are!" This was the cry that could have been heard from our class as we entered the halls of Hanes High School back in 1949. It took only a couple of weeks for us to find our way around, however, and we soon discovered all of those good times that were awaiting us.

Many of the students in our Freshman class were great music lovers and were given the chance to display their talent of music by joining the Band and Chorus.

On the other hand, we had some very prospective athletes; some of those going into football were; Jimmy Matthews, Sherman Criner, Gene Hopkins, Ronald Williams, and Richard Whitley. In the line of basketball we had Richard Rogers, Robert Sealey, Gene Hopkins, and Sherman Criner. Sweating it out on the baseball diamond with hopes of fulfilling their dreams of being on the Varsity team were: Ted Chambers, Ronald Williams, and Richard Rogers.

Of course, all our athletes weren't boys, and Carolyn Culler, Corinne Calloway, Juanita Dillon, and Flora Lee Cline were just a few of the girls who proved that point by playing on the various girls' teams.

June Bennett made the Varsity Debating Team, and Pat Hauser was chosen as the Most Outstanding Freshman of that year.

Finally, June rolled around, putting a temporary stop to our good times at school; however, as soon as September came, we got right back in the swing of things again.

As Sophomores we were beginning to be a little more ambitious, and Bobby Parrish won first prize for his essay on Alcoholism. Betty Jean Samuel placed first with her essay on "Selling As A Career."

June Bennett, Carolyn Culler, and Bobby Parrish were admitted to membership in the Masque and Gavel Society.

Going into the G. A. A. Club were: Kate Gladstone, Ann Tillotson, Pat Chilton, Ruth Jean Sherron, and Shirley Sowers.

Old Man Summer rolled around again, but we didn't mind it quite so much this time, for we felt the need of rest and fun.

When we returned as Juniors, we weren't quite so happy-go-lucky as in the previous years; for we had tamed down a little by this time and had learned to take school more seriously.

During this year, Pat Chilton won the first place award for the essay, "Selling As A Career."

We selected our class officers to be: David Cranfill, President, Blake Anderson, Vice-President; Kate Gladstone, Secretary; and Pat Chilton, Treasurer.

Our more intellectual students, Jean Smith, Carolyn Culler, Kate Gladstone, and Bobby Parrish, were inducted into the National Honor Society.

Sue Tuttle won the Beryl Wallace Vocal Award, a trophy which was presented her for her splendid singing.

Some of our boys who became members of the Hi-Y were: Richard Whitley, Harold Tillotson, Sherman Criner, and Phillip Stanley, while Robert Sealey, Richard Rogers, Frank Craver, and Robah Peacock were admitted into the H-Club.

Ramona Aaron, Flora Lee Cline, and Mitzi Martin were inducted into the Masque and Gavel Society this year.

Bobby Parrish and Kate Gladstone became members of the Quill and Scroll, and Kate was also chosen to be our D. A. R. Representative.

Some of the girls who joined the Future Homemakers of America Club were: Juanita Dillon, Glenda Youngkin, Jayne Chambers, Pat Coone, Peggyann Henderson, Wanda Lewis, Jean Smith, and Susan Petree.

Toward the end of the year we elected Jean Smith Mayor for the following year; in addition, Jean was selected to be our representative to Girls' State. At the same time Richard Whitley was named representative to Boys' State.

Again it came time for report cards in June, and all of us were very much relieved to discover that we had made sufficient progress for promotion, and that soon we would be the leading class at Hanes.

When we resumed studies in September, the College Club attracted many of our Seniors who were planning to further their education after leaving high school. The officers of this club were: Gail Sapp, President; Kate Gladstone, Vice-President; Pat Chilton, Secretary; and Nancy Gilbert, Treasurer.

Newcomers Eleanor Reese, Issac Jolly, and Carson Altman joined us in our Senior year.

In the Journalism department Kate Gladstone and Pat Chilton were co-

Pat Chilton, Gail Sapp, Kate Gladstone, Pat Hauser, and Corinne Calloway were cheerleaders in the Senior class.

Class Day officers were: Gail Sapp and Dot Jones, Prophets; Betty Jean Samuel, Historian; and Sue Tuttle, Testator.

As our Superlatives we chose: Ruth Jean Sherron and Phillip Stanley, Best Looking; Ruth Wheeling and Richard Rogers, Most Athletic; Dot Jones and Robah Peacock, Friendliest; Corinne Calloway and Wilson Mayberry, Best All Around; Pat Chilton and Frank Craver, Most Popular; Gail Sapp and Sherman Criner, Wittiest; Kate Gladstone and Bobby Parrish, Most Intellectual; and Jean Smith and David Cranfill, Most Likely to Succeed.

Kate Gladstone was our Piedmont Bowl Queen entry, and five of our Senior boys, Bruce Michael, Frank Craver, Ronald Williams, Robah Peacock, and Robert Sealey, were invited to play in the game.

Yes, we were busy in our Senior year; too busy even to notice that time was getting shorter and shorter. Now the time has come for us, the class of 1954, to say good-by to Hanes High and all the many experiences we have known here. We are about to venture into many unknown destinations; but whatever we do, wherever we go, we shall always think of the things that we have learned at Hanes, and the wonderful, understanding teachers who taught them to us, and of Mr. Haltiwanger, who has been so kind and patient with us during our years at Hanes. We sincerely hope that whatever our accomplishments may be, they will reflect honor on those who gave us the guidance that we so needed and gratefully accepted.

REYNOLDS PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF '54

INTRODUCTION: It is recorded in the annals of the E. T. Avery Liner Company that the "Good Ship Retrospect" sank in the year 1974, while carrying gold and many eminent passengers to the beautiful South Pacific Islands of "How-Are-Ya", which were discovered by the famous explorer Paxson B. Glenn, who lost his way while en route to Myrtle Beach. These islands are at a latitude of 30 degrees centigrade, longitude 180 degrees Fahrenheit, in the deep mysterious waters off the coast of Kansas City. At this point we now find a team of deep-sea divers from a salvage ship, searching for sunken treasure.

Bondurant— We've hit bottom!

Clark— Hope we can find the ship.

Wilson— See anything?

Carlyle— NoWait! What's that over to the right?

Gitter— It looks like the hull of a ship!

(He steps closer and focuses a flashlight.)

It is! We've found it!

Clark— Look! Here's a chest. Let's open it.

(They open the chest and discover the class documents.)

Bondurant— I've found a water log book. (He opens the book.) It says here that Dale Gramley was the captain of the ship.

Clark— Look at the last entry and see when the ship went down.

Bondurant— It says: "Since there is a tremendous hole in the bottom of the ship, caused by a hidden mass of ice, Capt. Gramley, without a moment's hesitation has decided the ship will sink. Bob Crews and Maxine Dowell are keeping up the morale during this crisis by leading a few cheers, although Bob has a broken leg. Fearless Deane Taylor is calming everyone's nerves with a hammer, and Bill Graham's voice can be heard above the panic bellowing, 'Fifteen men on a dead man's chest....' "

Wilson— "Mark Zimmerman and Noble Mullican are frantically searching for their Sanforized shirts. Vivian Jones, Betty Barkley, Becky Jo Benson, Raymond Saylor, and Jimmy Lineback, are up in the crows' nest hunting for sparrows."

Clark— Bill Hanewinkel, in his official capacity as chief lifter of light baggage, has just announced the sinking of the "Good Ship Retrospect." The ship's stern takes a bow, and she sinks to her watery grave."

Gitter— Look! Here's the ship's passenger list. There's Ann Blevins' name. She and Sibyl Holshouser are Latin translators for the United Nations. Lynn Blalock, Jean Fuller, and Nancy Webster are on the board of directors of Melvin Brown's peach orchard.

Carlyle— Here's a leaflet advertising Fred Boese's theater, "The Guilded Cage." Their motto — "Strictly for the Birds." Patsy Patten's production "From Here to There," starring Nat Crews as the hero, and Jim Gay as the mustache-twirling villain, is playing there. Mary Evelyn Lingle and Nancy Carpenter are the heroines, and Richard Humble's scalp was used in the exciting scalping scene. Florence Farrington and "Chubby" Burgess are in the cartoon, which was written by that great comedy team, Booe and Drummond.

Clark— Booe 'n' who?

Gitter— Let's not get sentimental!

Wilson— That was a double feature, Mary Irving. The other picture was "Pain", just plain "Pain", starring Harry Davis as the hero, Splain, and H. Larry Winecoff as the desperado. His black glove was made by the costume company of Nellie Dixon and Lydia James. They are graduates of Libby Taylor's school for good glove makers.

Bondurant— Let me see that passenger list. Here's Henry Shaffner's name! He's the inventor of the H20 bomb. It was tested by William Littlejohn and Herbert Pass. The bomb came by 410 and made a landing. Jim Sell, Tommy Rice, and Sam Nissen were on hand to put up the Demon for such a memorable occasion.

Carlyle— Bob "Fig" Newton was on board too. He was president of the Angelfood Dried Fruit Company. On the assembly line of this company were Mary Jo Coggin, Barbara Caudle, Becky Fitzgerald, and Paula Price. Robert "Peanut" Perdue was supervisor in the salted nut branch of the company. Martha Davis, "Vee-bee" Byrne, and Gwen Bayne were his chief assistants.

Clark— There were some VIP's on board too. Senators Paul Essex, Carolyn Peters, Bailey Liipfert, and Phil Myers were going to the island to check the situation.

Gitter— General Kennard Mabe and his army were on board. Major Wayne Mathis was in charge of the troops. The standard bearer for the 92nd surf-board division was Dick Peddycord. Henry Cunningham, Bob Law, Matthew Styers, and James Futrell were bunk privates.

Wilson— Joy McGee, Barbara Cantrell, and Bess Hart were in the WHACKIES. These troops were going to the island to settle a feud between Bill Shepherd and Eugene Wallace, who were fighting over the last of the coconuts.

Bondurant— Virgil Phelps was planning to start a big drugstore chain, specializing in the sale of retreads for worn out feet. These pads were developed by Betty Howell. Among the many satisfied users were Elizabeth Hightower, Robert Simons, and George Makros.

Carlyle— Charles Bell and Ronnie Baker, the inventors of the famous hair tonic with linoleum, were on board the ship, too. Among the many bald-headed users of their tonic are Kenneth Gordon, Zeb Stewart, and Charlie Porterfield.

Clark— Say, gang, here are some pictures by Ronald Carriker, ship's photographer. This one was taken at Governor George Foster's ball. I see Pete Julian, Bob Wolfington, and Bill Baldrige are doing their famous dying swan ballet.

Gitter— Eugene Hall, Mary Ann Bowling, and Carolyn Foltz are singing that hit tune "Cardust" by Wade Bowles. Gerald, who is that leading the grand march?

Wilson— It's Frances Montgomery, the star of the Broadway hit "Madam Flutterby." Dianne Byrd, Maxine Cooke, and Sally Ann Thomasson were stars in the show, too.

Bondurant— Frances is escorted by Dr. Bobby Ragsdale, the famous tree surgeon. Say, what's that picture, Mary Irving?

Carlyle— It's the ship's band led by Lewis "Petrillo" Wallace. Martha Wray, Phyllis Turner, Doris Byerly, and Mary Ann Wilkins played the bells. Dot Mauldin played the trumpet; Ramelle Moore, the jello; and Marilyn Strum, the zither.

Clark— Amelia Stockton played the harp (bless her soul), and Jean Walters was the Mongolian horn player. Joyce Tuttle played the radio, and Jeannie Smith put nickels in the juke box.

Gitter— Dig this crazy picture! Jimmy Tise and David Johnson are boxing champs in the fly-weight division. Kemp Cummings and "Bunky" Shore are playing for the West Salem checker championship.

Bondurant— She doesn't need it anyway.

Carlyle— Here's a picture of Eddie Reinhardt, the football coach of the Milwaukee Maulers. Every Sunday night he's on the quiz show, "Where's My Line?"

Clark— Hey, look at these names! Bill Martin and Jim Norrell, the designers of the jet engine automobile, "Marco Polo," were on this ship. Donald George and Bob Davis own the motor company which distributes the car. James Bright, Bill Durham, Robert Conrad, and Joe Hauser are on the sales staff.

Gitter— Here's a water lily from the "Sea-Going Flower Shop." The proprietors were Jo Anne Phelps, Janet Porter, and Barbara McClellan. They developed a beautiful hybrid, the dandy-tiger. Louis Jones was the fearless trainer of the flower.

Wilson— I just found one of Kay Shepherd's poems. This one's entitled "The Empty Room."

Bondurant— Blank verse, huh? Let's see— Here are the names of Bill Polley and Bill Norman, manufacturers of the new soda pop, "Thud." Dolly DeCoursey, Hervey Doughton, and Sandie Longfellow, the women physicists, invented the pop bottle. It is king-sized and has a filter tip.

Carlyle— A band of pirates captained by Pete Polites attempted to capture the "Good Ship Retrospect," according to the log, but the ship was courageously defended by Coy Foster and Ronnie Evans.

Clark— Here's something interesting! Gayle Hartman, Ann Marshall, and Mary Jacobs edited the ship's newspaper, the "Ebb Tide." Jackie O'Brien and Gladys Jacobs wrote the social news, and Jane Faley, world known artist, drew a cartoon serial called "Linda Constellation."

Gitter— Eleanor Tedder and Mary Jo Hipple wrote an Indian pageant in which Robert Dillard, the hand-painted Indian dancer, had the leading role. In the cast were Walter Cagle, Kirk Shepherd, Harry Lee Vance, and Bob Burwell. Sue Lee, Janet Jenkins, and Nancy Gentry, who had the part of papooses, stole the show, according to Mary Peterson. Mary was art critic for the "Ebb Tide."

Wilson— Bob Appleyard operated the ship's inter-communication system. The call letters were KORN. Harry Burns' epic, "John's Second Cousin's Sister," was the best program. Bob Sheets directed the show, and Nancy Jones and Rascha Sklut hummed soft music in the background.

Carlyle— "Buddy" Frazier managed the shipboard restaurant, "The Muddle", and Jim Pickard, Bobby Brooks, and Leon Pruitt were the chefs.

Clark— Martha Andrew, Joan Willis, and Gelda Hartman, the famous fashion designers, were on the ship. Here's a picture of the beautiful live raccoon coat they designed. Michael Cochrane brought the coat back alive. Pat Shore, the model, looks lovely, doesn't she?

Gitter— Professor Billy Nichols had a stateroom on the ship. He taught geometry in Anna Lauria Young's school.

Bondurant— Was that Bear Swamp State Teachers' College? Barbara Ann Wood and Jerry Wood, winners of the John Council Peace Prize for Prize-Winning Pieces, were graduates of that school. They wrote a poem entitled "How Much Wood."

Wilson— Bob Rhodes, Nancy Lee Janes, Billy Smith, and Jo Ann Ketter were going to the island to serve as jurors in the case of Jimmie Marshall versus Louise Myers. Christ Moutos was the judge, and Ann Moser and Martha Haynes were the attorneys. It was a case of measles.

Carlyle— Here's a copy of the Cati-line Latin Dictionary by Peggy Gilliam.

Clark— James Spaugh, Landon Wooten, Nancy Jane Hensel, Larry Burwell, and Barbara Anthony ran a flea circus. Everyone was itching to see it.

Bondurant— Well, gang, we've just struck bottom.

of life's journey. As we stand on the deck of our ship, the gently rippling waters bring back reflections of our school, our classmates, our school spirit, of the untiring efforts of our teachers and principal, and of the beautiful friendships we have made here. Before we sail away we wish to express a few thoughts and wishes:

To Mr. Joyner, our principal, counselor, leader, and friend, we leave our deep gratitude for his sympathetic understanding and for the wonderful example he set for us.

To our faculty, who made the learning process a pleasure for us, we express our heartfelt thanks for the patience, understanding, and homework which they so willingly gave. We hope that someday we may repay them with the knowledge of our success.

To the coaches of our teams we should like to pay tribute for the long hours devoted to us—hours in which they taught lessons in teamwork no textbook could ever impart.

To the Junior Class, our next of kin, we leave our inch-long pencil stubs, our birds' eye view in chapel, the intercom system, the senior girls' private dining room, the Key Club-Senior Service Club rivalry, and that wonderful feeling of being a Senior.

Our class leaders yield their administrative capacities to those who will soon receive their weighty responsibilities.

Mary Lou Darsey and "Droopy" Goodson, whose athletic abilities no one denies, leave their talent to Mary Louise Coleman and Eddie Davis.

Our superlatives, Margaret Herrington and Don Buchanan, pass on their good looks to the neediest in the Junior Class.

Larry Winecoff leaves to "Sonny" Lacy the black glove made famous in the movie "Shane."

Pat Williams bestows her high-stepping majorette ability on Janice Cornwell and "Bobbie" Edwards, in hopes that they may find her magical boots a perfect fit.

Kay Shepherd, our poetical lass, imparts her knack to the Junior Class.

Our hard-working service clubs bequeath their self-established goals to their followers, in the highest hopes that they will keep up the vigorous pace.

John Garvey, our magnificent maestro, leaves his nimble fingers to Charles Fussell.

Bob Hankins and Carolyn Peters, impart their astounding intelligence to Hank Elkins and Susie White.

Lynne Hamrick leaves her scales and trills and do-re-me's to Marilyn Fishel.

Bob Ruffin leaves his basketball uniform to Jim Spach, hoping that many basketballs will be dropping through the basket.

Jo Ann Hege, our Homecoming queen, bestows her majestic height on Bob Reid, trusting that he can win the same honors.

And now, as our ship pulls up anchor, we bid adieu to Reynolds High School and to a host of friends. Here we have acquired skill in the use of charts and compasses to guide us on our journey into the future, toward which we depart with sadness, but with confidence.

We appoint the Juniors as trustees to carry out our wishes and to maintain and advance the high standards of Reynolds High School.

REYNOLDS HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '54

It was a dark and stormy night at sea. The crew was in its quarters. In walked the Captain. "Tell us a history, Captain."

"Aye, Crew."

It was a dark and stormy day at Reynolds High School when, as amoebae, we swam into the sea of high school life. After paying our radiator fees, making acquaintances galore, and adjusting ourselves somewhat to the tremendous size of this sea, we suddenly emerged as tadpoles, the freshmen.

First on the agenda was the election of our class officers. We chose Tip Johnson, president; Bob Hankins, vice-president; Wesley Keith, secretary; and "Buddy" Spach, treasurer.

Some of our group had already fallen into diversified fields. A few in the school orchestra were Sarah Fordham, Martha Ferrell, and Polly Crouse. Anne Melvin and Gwen Bayne were climbing the scale over in the music room.

Tides came and went, and soon we were sophomores. Silas Marner became a close friend of ours, and we learned the location of the grasshopper's ear.

Heading our sophomore class were Bob Hankins, president; Jo Ann Burge, vice-president; Mary Irving Carlyle, secretary; and Allan Gitter, treasurer.

Now we were really an active part of the sea. We tried our best to make a big splash with our tiny fins. Already showing their leadership abilities were Allan Gitter, Wesley Keith, and Gerald Wilson, who represented our class in the student government.

"Variety" was the word when it came to extra-curricular activities. Martha Rainey, Lou Hamner, Mary Lou Darsey, and Joe McKenzie were among the novices down in 111, the home of the publications' staff. The Thespians claimed some of our talented classmates. David Eddleman, Jim Zeh, Susie Pardington, and Patsy Patten had the whole sea in laughter during their performances in "Elmer." This club, together with the music department, put on a prize-winning production of the operetta "Down in the Valley", in which soprano Lynne Hamrick had the leading role.

It was during our sophomore year, when we were flounders, that the "new" gym was dedicated. With the additional space, an intra-mural sports program for girls was made possible. That year the Blushing Babes won the championship. Jackie Potter, Carolina Robertson, and Lynn Blalock were a few Babes who helped the team on to a blushing victory. These three girls, along with "Dee-dee" Fenwick, Betty Lou Hicks, and Virginia Stone, were among those who wore their hair in pigtails during the G. A. A. initiation.

Down on Hanes Field that spring, we pointed with pride to Tip Johnson, the pitching sensation, and also Bob Tudor, "Droopy" Goodson, and "Bunky" Shore. Making like windmills on the golf course were Bryan Booe, Gilmour Lake, Fin Long, and Bob Ruffin--the golf team. Len Peterson, Larry Winecoff, and Paul Crouse were chalking up wins for the tennis team.

We are sure of all this because Gerald Wilson, school photographer took pictures of the teams for the Black and Gold.

The currents flowed more swiftly and we were shocked to find that at last we were real catfish, upper-classmen. It was 1952-53, the year of state championships--football, debating, and track.

For us it was also the year of inductions. The National Honor Society tapped thirteen junior members--among them Judy McMichael, Sandra Melville, Barbara Shamel, and Bill Spencer, who was later president of the society.

Mary Lou Darsey and Kay Shepherd, who were to become co-editors of the Black and Gold, were also inducted into the Quill and Scroll. The Masque and Gavel took in Carolyn Peters, who was president of that organization the following year.

Jim Sell, John Garvey, and Pax Glenn were a few of our classmates who were invited to join the Senior Service Club. Paxon was president of the club the next year.

In the spring the seniors chose several of our girls to be Senior Marshals. Some of them were Dot Hundley, Becky Hinkle, Delvin Mickey, and Jo Ann Hege, chief marshal.

Our junior class officers, Tip Johnson, "Skip" Vermilya, John Schultz, and Dickie Ebert, successfully managed the unforgettable Junior-Senior. Bill Spencer and Bob Crews rounded up the roses and the silver stars which carried out the theme "Stairway to the Stars."

June, July, August...and then we were the big fish in the sea! Whales at last! But we had to work like sea horses preparing lab reports, writing term papers, and reading parallel into the wee hours of the morning.

As always the senior year was the big year. We elected as our class officers Dale Gramley, president; "Skip" Vermilya, vice-president; Read Clark, secretary; and "Buddy" Spach, treasurer.

We eagerly counted the days from Friday to Friday, and just as eagerly totaled the wins of our football team. It was a long, long list, ending in a co-championship with Durham. During football season the band and the majorettes kept up the school spirit and won admirers throughout the state. Bess Hart, Dot Hundley, Jo Ann Hege, Delvin Mickey, Bob Crews, and Bill Bondurant led us in cheers.

The Children's Home football players, although small in size, were large in spirit, and proved a good match for opponents in their conference. Bill Adkins, Don Cooke, Ravenelle Stepp, and Bill Pegram, Winston-Salem's only representative in the Shrine Bowl, played well for the fighting Methodists.

But the tides flowed ceaselessly, and we began to realize that our years at Reynolds were going with them. Spring saw the end of basketball season and the beginning of the spring sports.

Somehow we finished our work and were rewarded by the fun of Junior-Senior, the senior picnic, and Class Day. We got our caps and gowns, and then for the last time we entered the auditorium as Reynolds High School students.

The tide washed us out into the sea of life, and we were ready for everything, fortified with five happy years of work and play.

GRAY PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF '54

Time: 1974

Setting: Gray Little Theater

Characters:

Eddie Crutchfield

Sammy Beck

Mary Jane Lawrence

Don Byerly

A committee planning a reunion of the class of '54 is meeting in the Gray Little Theater.

Eddie— We're meeting today to try to find out where our old classmates are so that we can send out reunion invitations.

Don— One of our classmates is returning home today. Ronald Conrad, Ambassador to Afghanistan, will be met at the airport by Karen Shumaker, Martha Petree, and Douglas Johnston, an official welcoming delegation.

Eddie— I understand that the renowned nuclear physicists, Jerry Donevant and Eddie Flynn, are also on that plane.

Mary Jane— Eddie, as editor of the East Muddy Creek Ripple, you have an opportunity to keep in close contact with Gray's graduates.

Eddie— Yes, as a matter of fact I received a dispatch from New York yesterday about several seniors of '54.

Sammy— What's the latest on our old friends?

Eddie— Well, Linda Foust and Shirley Gentry are starring in the new musical, The Gay Grayhoundettes, written by Ben Sink and produced by Bill Boyd.

Don— I hear that one of the large factors in the success of the production is the exquisite scenery designed by Wilmoth Burton and his assistants, Harold Roberts and David Utt. The costumes were made by those famous dress designers, Pat Merri-man and Jackie Parrish.

Mary Jane— Have you seen the latest Hour Magazine? The cover picture taken by Ralph Dwiggins showed models Mary Mayberry and Janet Massey in the latest off-the-shoulder space suits!

Sammy— How are we going to contact the graduates who are living all over the world?

Don— We won't have any trouble locating Adele Wilkins, Barbara Brittain, and Mary Ann Hege, as they're all happily married and living nearby.

Mary Jane— They're living in that new community, Owensville, designed by architect, Eddie Owens and his assistants, Albert Gambill, Jimmy Temples, and Gene Sapp.

Eddie— Our graduates are really scattered all over the globe. Only last week I received a letter from Sydna Cash, now an internationally known artist with a studio in Paris.

Sammy— Billy Edwards and Gene Hutchins are in Paris now, too.

Mary Jane— They say they never want to leave. Gay Paree would suit them, all right!

Don— Have you seen the big billboard ads about Coe's Rosebushes?

Eddie— Yes, the Kenneth Coe Corporation is now selling Thornless rosebushes all over the country. Some of his ace salesmen are Charles Faust, Jack Hartle, Ted Little, and William Holcomb.

Mary Jane— Did you know that at the Miss North America Contest, Sara Jo Hennis, Faye Byrd, and Carolyn Burns were presented a bouquet of his beautiful thornless roses?

Sammy— One highlight of the Miss North America Contest was the talent division. Competing for honors were Mary Jane Lawrence, Sylvia Greer, Mescal Coe, Barbara West, and Barbara Tolson.

Mary Jane— That was about the same time that Phillip Morris, Bobby Jo Adams, Mark Rose, and Ed Cochran were establishing the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Trigonometry Students.

Eddie— Have any of you by chance read Clyde Padgett's new book, Wild Hare, the story of a runaway rabbit?

Don— No, but I read Doris Wooten's review of it in the Morning Tribune, edited by those fighting journalists, Joy Yates, Wilma Walker, and Martha Bodenheimer.

Eddie— I visited their office several weeks ago and saw several graduates on the staff. Reporters Joan Reich, Linda Rutledge, and Pat Honeycutt began to tell me who was seen at the opening of the Philharmonic season. They said that socialites Phyllis Angel, Carolyn Long, Pat Robinson, Ruth Stanley, and Norma Fesperman were seen seated in the Diamond

Horseshoe.

Sammy— Doesn't Nancy Lane appear with the Philharmonic now?

Don— Yes, she is being considered for the conductor's post, now held by Gene Watkins.

Eddie— I also met the sports editor of the Morning Tribune, Leroy Boverder, who said that Don Cardwell, Dick Wilson, Richard Reynolds, Sammy Beck, and Don McCorkle are playing professional basketball with the Roanoke Rookies, and that Johnny Messick and Benny Copple had written him from Alaska, where they are hunting polar bears.

Sammy— Don't forget our pro football players. Pat Bleasoe, Don Byerly, Bobby Dillon, and George Yontz, assisted by waterboy Melvin Knouse, are playing for the Chicago Wildcats.

Mary Jane— Mary Ruth "Pokey" Long has just received world-wide acclaim by running the four-minute mile in three minutes.

Don— What about the scientifically inclined? Potential Madame Curies, Pat Brendle and Lois Story have discovered a cure for the mental blankness which always seemed to occur in senior English class!

Eddie— I saw several other '54 seniors when I visited the United Nations. There Secretary-General Jerry Newsome was speaking on world conditions to delegates, Gracie Newell, Charles Walser, Jo Ann Cox, and George Ernst.

Don— All of our home-town folks were mighty proud when Betty Johnson was elected first woman senator from North Carolina.

Mary Jane— Now she's having to appear before the Sattenfield Investigating Committee, headed by Bobby Sattenfield. Assisting Bobby in his investigation are Nelson Crouch, David Williams, Terry Pitts, and Carolyn Morgan. They want to know if she ever knew Pope Thornton, leader of the new political party, the Eggheads.

Sammy— I saw some of his followers the other day. Carrying large posters were Annas Walker, Phil Holland, Betty Ann Rogers, Gerry Holder, and Jackie Darr.

Eddie— They argue constantly with the members of the Confederate party, organized by Hilbert Misenheimer. Party members Shirley Wood, Jacqueline Sprinkle, Loretta Nigh, and Joseph Hutchins are often seen counting their Confederate money.

Don— Speaking of money, billionaire Johnny Bait passed through town recently. Some of his business associates traveling with him were Dexine Sprinkle and Franklin Pitts and their secretaries, Earlene Rierson and Mary Lou Posey.

Mary Jane— Didn't Johnny set up a memorial to his favorite movie star, Janice Fulp Cude?

Sammy— Yes, she was immortalized in the film "Those Blondes from Southside." Co-starring were Shirley McClain, Elizabeth Pegram, Peggy Martin, and Janet Pope, who were directed by that famous movie magnet, Dudley Stewart.

Eddie— Manager Ulyus Hilton and his assistants, Tommie Ann Poindexter, Frances Searce, and Shirley Speaks also aided in the play's success.

Don— Playing in the international speedball match last month were Pat Fearrington, Shirley Jo Neal, Carolyn Bowman, and Elaine Pappas. Watching the game anxiously were Coaches Bob Shouse and Bennie Nichols, and Trainers Patsy Swaim, Marlene Bovender, and Pat Luffman.

Mary Jane— Have you seen our new department store, Case and Crouse, Incorporated, named for Raeford and Carl? Some of their star clerks are Martha Bair, Betty Jane Ervin, Sarah Barton, and Jimmie Sue Cromer. The expert elevator operators for the store are Harold Ketner and Joe Barton. Bobby Smith and Jim Brooks, store detectives, are often seen near Dean Plemmons' Almanac Stand, operated by Willie Jean Potter, Dorothy Reeves, Barbara Plowman, Mona Sidden, and Shirley Wilson.

Eddie— From the information we've learned about the seniors of '54 we can send out the reunion invitations right away. We'll meet again next week to plan the program; but, as Carl Pratt, caretaker of the Gray Little Theater, is about to lock up for the night, we had better leave now.

GRAY HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '54

In the fall of 1950 a group of scared, awkward students, frightened, yet quivering with excitement, were at last in high school! It wasn't long, though, before many of us were making ourselves known in student organization work.

Taking back to their homerooms the board reports were Gene Sapp, Shirley Wood, Martha Bodenheimer, Bobbie Tolson, Jerry Newsome, and Leroy Bovender, who along with Eddie Crutchfield, received "On the Beam" honors, given by the Gray Light.

Getting into the swing of things as far as athletics go were Leroy Bovender, Sammy Beck, and Bill Edwards, who played on the junior varsity squad.

After having been in high school a year, we were getting used to the routine of activities. Several members were inducted into various clubs. Melvin Knouse, Ralph Dwiggins, Don Cardwell, Leroy Bovender, James Fulton, and Eddie Crutchfield were inducted into the Key Club.

Don Cardwell, Gene Sapp, Eddie Crutchfield, and Leroy Bovender became members of the Hi-Y. "On the Beam" light rested on Gracie Newell, Martha Bodenheimer, Carolyn Burns, and Wilmoth Burton.

Our actors inducted into the Masque and Gavel were Shirley Gentry, Linda Foust, and Eddie Owens. Debating team members that year were Ronald Conrad, James Fulton, and Jerry Newsome.

When we became juniors, we were really beginning to take on responsibilities, with Eddie Owens being elected vice-president of the Student Organization. An important assembly was held in January to induct into the National Honor Society new members Joy Yates, Wilma Walker, Sylvia Greer, Leroy Bovender, Ronald Conrad, Gene Sapp, Pat Honeycutt, Joan Reich, Karen Shumaker, Doris Wooten, Betty Johnson, Martha Petree, Linda Rutledge, Betty Rogers, and Martha Bodenheimer.

Doris Wooten was selected by the journalism class to serve as editor-in-chief of the Blue and Gold. Leading the junior class were president, Leroy Bovender; vice-president, Mark Rose; secretary, Carolyn Burns; and treasurer, Don Cardwell. Ushering the seniors of 1953 at all their exercises were the marshals: Carolyn Burns, chief; Shirley McClain, Sylvia Greer, Sara Jo Hennis, Doris Wooten, and Barbara West.

Pat Farrington, Shirley Wood, and Pat Brendle served on the G. A. A. Council. Becoming Quill and Scroll members were Joy Yates, Linda Rutledge, Pat Honeycutt, Joan Reich, Martha Bodenheimer, Doris Wooten, and Wilma Walker.

Leroy Bovender and Martha Bodenheimer were chosen to represent Gray at Boys' and Girls' State, respectively.

Eddie Owens, Mark Rose, and Bill Edwards were new inductees of the Hi-Y, and Eddie Crutchfield was the first-place winner of the school for the "Selling as a Career" essay contest. Don Cardwell and Billy Edwards were selected for the All-State Basketball Team.

Instead of being on the outside looking in 216, in the fall of '53 we were on the inside looking out! Leading our senior class were Eddie Crutchfield, president; Don Byerly, vice-president; Mary Jane Lawrence, secretary; and Sammy Beck, treasurer.

For his kind, helpful ways we chose Mr. Jack Fletcher, our baseball coach, for the dedication of the Gray section of the Blue and Gold, while Miss Mary Miller Knox, Miss Ruth Meinung, and Mrs. Carrie May Allgood were our senior class sponsors.

The class selected red and white, and red roses for our colors and flower. Mascots were Karen Southern, sponsored by Hilbert Misenheimer; and Jerry Wayne Markland, sponsored by Jo Ann Cox.

Among those serving the student organization as superintendents were Don Cardwell and Eddie Owens as head of the personal relations department. Leading the high steppers this year was Linda Foust, assisted by Shirley Gentry.

Officers serving for both the Quill and Scroll and the National Honor Society were the same for the first three positions; they were president, Martha Bodenheimer; vice-president, Linda Rutledge; and secretary, Doris Wooten. Keeping up with the money for the societies were Joy Yates for the Quill and Scroll, and Gene Sapp for the National Honor Society.

The Student Organization officers for the first semester were president, Leroy Bovender; recording secretary, Sylvia Greer; corresponding secretary, James Fulton; and treasurer, Mark Rose.

With the three honor societies having their inductions in the fall of '53 many of our classmates were selected. Pat Honeycutt, Martha Petree, Ronald Conrad, James Fulton, Mark Rose, and Martha Bodenheimer, were new members of the Masque and Gavel; and Sylvia Greer, editor of the annual, Mary Ruth Long, editor of the Gray Light, and Leroy Bovender, managing editor of the paper, joined the Quill and Scroll.

New National Honor members were Barbara Brittain, Mary Ruth Long, James Fulton, Mescal Coe, Sydna Cash, and Betty Jane Ervin.

We had quite a job on our hands choosing superlatives; however, after much consideration we elected the following: Most Likely to Succeed, Leroy Bovender and Martha Bodenheimer; Most Intellectual, James Fulton and Pat Honeycutt; Wittiest, Gene Hutchins and Janice Fulp Cude; Best All Around, Leroy Bovender and Doris Wooten; Most Popular, Don Cardwell and Sylvia Greer; Best Looking, Hilbert Misenheimer and Carolyn Burns; Friendliest, Eddie Owens and Mary Jane Lawrence; Most Athletic, Don Cardwell and Pat Fearrington.

Don Cardwell was chosen to play in the Shrine Bowl in Charlotte, but declined the invitation in order to play in the Piedmont Bowl game.

Don was also picked for the All-State team. Selected for the All-Conference and All-City teams were Sammy Beck, Don Cardwell, and Mark Rose, while Don Byerly was chosen for the second team. Faye Byrd was our Piedmont Bowl queen entrant.

"On the Beam" light again rested on two of our classmates, Linda Rutledge and Joy Yates.

Our Class Day officers are prophet, James Fulton; testator, Clyde Padgett; and historian, Doris Wooten.
